

WHO WE ARE

The ICC Commission on Corporate Responsibility and Anti-corruption is a leading global private sector body that develops rules of conduct and best practices for fighting corruption and provides world business views on key corporate responsibility and anti-corruption issues.

ICC has taken the lead among business organizations in denouncing corruption and developing rules to combat it. The ICC Rules on Combating Corruption constitute the cornerstone of ICC's anti-corruption work, serving both as a tool for self-regulation by business and as a roadmap for governments in their efforts to fight extortion and bribery. In addition to these flagship ICC Rules, the Commission has developed a suite of crucial anti-corruption tools for companies to use proactively as part of their integrity programmes.

The Commission on Corporate Responsibility and Anti-corruption also provides business with practical instruments to help companies improve their corporate responsibility performance and shapes the development of key standards for corporate responsibility.

The Commission brings together over 300 members from 40 countries, representing multinational companies, law firms, trade associations, and small and medium-sized enterprises.

ICC's voluntary, market-based approaches for fighting corruption and for high standards of responsible business conduct contribute to levelling the playing field for all participants in a global economy.

CURRENT PRIORITIES

- Develop ICC Training based on the "ICC Ethics and Compliance Training Handbook", addressing a range of issues including training, SMEs and solicitation.
- Shape G20 Anti-corruption recommendations, drawing from ICC's anti-corruption tools as a basis for concrete action by business for fighting corruption.
- Inject global business input into the implementation of the UN Guiding Principles on business and human rights.
- Promote use of the ICC Rules on Combating Corruption (2011) among businesses and policy makers.
- Raise awareness of the ICC Anti-corruption Clause to preserve trust for parties and prevent corruption.
- Provide global business input into international initiatives on corporate responsibility and anti-corruption.
- Contribute global business views on corporate responsibility reporting.
- Articulate business views on ISO's initiatives in the area of Corporate Responsibility and Anti-bribery.
